“ 2 years and 11 months today and I still can not believe your not here with us. Your family misses you so much. Your baby boy is growing like a weed. He has your kind heart and looks just like you. It is coming up the 3 year mark of you leaving us and even though he does not not the exact date he can feel it in the season and has been talking a lot more about you lately. When he ends his prayers he always says Jesus please kiss my momma and tell her I miss her. When we cuddle at night he whispers in my ear I miss my momma. He said he does not ever want another momma he only wants the one he has. I can not believe we have survived this long without you. Only God. We will see you when our journey on this earth is over. Love you now and always. #4-3ever31. #familymatters

“ I didn't get a chance to know my cousin Brittany. I just found out just a few short months ago that I had a whole new family and was blessed with more cousins. My heart cries for Rhonda and Amanda and rest of the family. Losing a loved one hurts but losing a mom, daughter, a wife, a sister, an aunt, a niece, a cousin, a best friend hurts just so much more. I pray for peace, comfort, and understanding. We know she is in heaven with Jesus. By what I have read and been told she had a heart of gold and was an amazing woman of God. Rest easy now Brittany. One day we will meet.

“ I didn't know Brittnay personally just the wonderful words from Rhonda as we use to drive the van together to work at CSC. We shared many words and thoughts about our children and her beautiful daughter during our long drive. My heart goes out to the family. My prayers are with you all.

“ It was during our 10:30 Sunday service where many of us witnessed our Associate Pastor, Scott Taylor receiving word of the accident and later the unthinkable news of the passing of his niece. Our hearts broke with him and Sandy and the family in utter shock.

I have continued to pray for this family all week and most particularly after her burial on Saturday. May the comfort and peace of God rule your hearts during this transition.
