

Lawrence Weldon Wesley Jr.

February 20, 1953 - May 17, 2025

Mr. Lawrence Weldon Wesley Jr(AKA B0B0) was born to the late Lawrence and Ora Jean Wesley on February 20th, 1953 at Parkland Hospital in Dallas, Texas. He was the only boy with three sisters. His older sister Helen, who preceded him in death gave him the nickname "BoBo" when he was born. Later on people started calling him the "Notorious Bo"

Lawrence was educated through DISD, and attended C.F.Carr Elementary School, Sequoyah Jr. High, and L.G.Pinkston High School, where he graduated in the Class of 1971. He was in the LGP band where he played trumpet, and he also played football. Lawrence and four of his friends, the late Willie" Wolf" McCoy, Sammy McGuire, Mavis Traylor, and Greg Nixon formed a group called the 5 shades of Black in High School. Lawrence grew up attending Love Chapel Church of God in Christ, under the late Pastor Phillip White. Lawrence worked for Mays and Wesley Asphalt, All Sizes Screws, and Moving Solutions. Lawrence was someone who loved to cook, avid sports watcher, especially football and was always a beacon of light. He kept a smile on his face, and always had everyone rolled over with laughter. One of his favorite sayings was "Dig These Blues".

Lawrence leaves to cherish his memories his wife, Mrs. Lillie Smith Wesley, her granddaughters Trynadee Smith and McKenzie Smith. Lawrence also leaves to cherish his memories his children, Aldrick Wesley, Marian Wesley
